Message

Tropical and infectious diseases are a major public health burden in developing nations like India. Even in developed nations, the reappearance of neglected tropical diseases makes them more important. Millions of lives are lost due to vector borne diseases, respiratory tract illnesses, helminthic and parasitic diseases, poisoning and animal bites.

“Resource Center of Tropical and Infectious Diseases - RCTID” at AIIMS Bhopal has been established with a mandate of trans-disciplinary service delivery, training and teaching activities for workforce development and high quality operational research. We welcome you all to RCTID, a regional center of excellence in Tropical and Infectious diseases. We will be honoured to collaborate with you and share relevant knowledge, because together we can make a difference.
